Status Update:

- COVID Case Update: We are headed in the right direction Snohomish County, but still have a long way to go. COVID case rates have been declining in recent weeks and are currently at 253 per 100,000 population for the two-week period ending Jan. 23.

Please keep practicing the three W's: Wear a Mask; Wash your Hands; Watch your distance.

COVID-19 CASES REPORTED IN SNOHOMISH COUNTY BY DATE (UPDATED WEEKDAYS)

- Snohomish County remains in Phase 1: The Puget Sound Region, which includes Snohomish, King and Pierce counties, will remain in Phase 1 for the next week. Unfortunately, case rates have risen by 23% and hospital admission rates were relatively flat.

In order to advance to the next phase, we will need to see decreases on all four metrics. Wear a mask, avoid crowds and stay home if you are feeling sick. http://bit.ly/WA\_RtoR

- COVID questions? We have a call center: We know there are a lot of questions right now about COVID, particularly when it comes to access to vaccines. The COVID call center is a resource: 425-339-5278. Because demand is high, we ask that people first contact their regular health care provider to determine if vaccine appointments are being made. Additional information also is available on <https://www.snohd.org/564/COVID-Vaccine-Info> and bit.ly/SnoCoHub. If you are unable to register for a vaccine appointment that likely means all slots are filled for the day.

The call center also is a resource for those who lack internet access or who may face challenges communicating in English.

- Now in Phase 1b1 of the Vaccination Plan: Snohomish County’s vaccine supply remains low and appointments can be difficult to secure. Contact your primary care physician or pharmacy to inquire of their vaccine plan and availability or visit www.snohd.org/covidvaccine or call the COVID Call Center at 425-339-5278 for help.
